[3000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
Located in Chicago’s Uptown community, Sarah’s Circle has served women who are homeless or at risk of homelessness since 1979. Over our thirty year history, Sarah’s has evolved from a drop-in center only to a multi-faceted agency with comprehensive services and permanent supportive housing. In 1979 Sarah’s Circle served approximately 10 women a day with very basic services. Today we serve approximately 68 women a day, with a total of 917 for 2010. Beyond simply providing life-sustaining physical services for women who are homeless, we do so in a healing environment and in conjunction with professional services such as case management, clinical services, and housing placements, all geared towards improving women’s long-term health, well-being, and self-sufficiency. Our ultimate goal is to end homelessness for the women we serve.

Mission Statement: Sarah’s Circle is a refuge for women who are homeless or in need of a safe space. By providing housing assistance, case management, referral services, and life necessities, we encourage women to empower themselves by rebuilding both emotionally and physically; realizing their unique potential.

Beginning November 1, Sarah’s Circle will be stepping up to operate the 50 bed women’s interim housing program formerly operated by REST. With the new contract, Sarah’s Circle will be able to target resources to a significant number of chronically homeless women, and double the hours our current facility is opened. Assimilating this program into our existing operations is challenging, but a solid fit with our strategic direction and commitment to end homelessness for women.

The 50 bed interim housing program will serve as the entry point to our existing services – case management, clinical services, and housing services. Our agency will work with the women in a harm reduction framework to house women quickly, allowing more women to access the interim housing program. Subsequent to housing, Sarah’s Circle will provide support and ongoing services to newly housed women, who still require a high level of support to retain housing.

The Health Access for Formerly Homeless Women program plays a vital role in this strategic plan in providing routine and systematic services for health and housing retention during and after housing placement. The services will cause health improvements for the women both directly and indirectly, through helping the women remain stably housed.

This service delivery model will provide for a continuum of care from immediate housing and provision of basic human needs, to comprehensive services and housing placement, and finally the follow up services to ensure housing retention.

Q44: 2. Description of current programs, activities and achievements.*
[1500 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
Sarah’s Circle’s current programs include Physical Services, Educational and General Interest Programming, Case Management, Clinical Services, and our Housing Program, which encompasses both our 11 units of permanent supportive housing and the placement of women in housing through other housing providers.

Our Clinical Services Program was originally designed as a response to the high prevalence of trauma and mental illness that had consistently proven to be a major barrier to the health and housing stability of our clients. At the program’s inception, there were other mental health services available in the community, which we referred clients to and partnered with, however these services were not ideal for all of our clients. Our clients needed services that were highly accessible, gender-sensitive, trauma-informed, and with homelessness as a universalized experience among program participants. Since the program started in 2007, it has grown, especially with the shrinking availability of mental health services in the community. Due to state budget cuts, Sarah’s Circle can no longer refer our clients who do not have Medicaid to other service providers. Sarah’s Circle now provides groups on Mood Management, Trauma, Domestic Violence, and Anxiety Management, as well as art therapy, individual counseling, and coordination of medication management through a Heartland Health Outreach nurse practitioner.

Q45: Number Served*
How many people were served by the program you are requesting funding for (if it's an existing program), and the agency overall, last year?
[1000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
The Health Access for Formerly Homeless women is a new program for Sarah’s Circle. Last year we housed 61 women in permanent housing through other housing providers. The agency overall served 917 women with basic services in 2010. With the changes detailed above, we expect to serve fewer women total, but the ones we serve will receive a greater depth of service.
Q46: 3. Description of formal and informal relationships with other organizations.*
Emphasize those relevant to the program or activities for which you seek funding.
[1500 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
Sarah’s Circle has strong relationships with numerous health, housing, and human service providers in the area. We host health providers at Sarah’s Circle on a regular basis to ensure access to testing, information, and care for the women. Chicago House provides HIV testing to Sarah’s Circle clients monthly, Chicago Women’s Health Center presents on women’s health and sexual health topics monthly or bimonthly, and a nurse practitioner from Heartland Health Outreach performs general health checkups and coordinates medication management biweekly. These general health checkups are for women who are currently homeless and are too brief for a full diagnosis and treatment of health issues. This is particularly true for the chronically homeless, as they are at a greater risk for physical and mental health conditions due to homelessness and are among the most difficult to engage in any type of therapeutic relationship.

For clients requiring intensive treatment for addiction and severe mental illness, Sarah’s Circle collaborates with specializing organizations, such as C4, Trilogy, and Thresholds. However these service providers have become unable to provide services to clients without Medicaid or some other form of insurance.

Our Housing Coordinator maintains relationships with other housing providers, such as Housing Opportunities for Women, Deborah’s Place, Featherfist, Heartland Housing, Mercy Housing Lakefront, SRHAC, Friendly Towers, Ezra Multi Service.

B. Purpose of Funding Request
Q47: 1. Please state how this grant will be used and its overall goals.*
[2140 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
Sarah’s Circle seeks funding for a pilot Health Access for Formerly Homeless Women program. The program is intended to be both a “Critical Time Intervention” to improve housing retention and an important source of health care for women who are desperately in need and have few or no other options for care. An Advanced Practice Nurse (APN) will first provide initial psychiatric/medical evaluations for women who are homeless, whom Sarah’s Circle is working to place in permanent housing. The evaluations will be used to connect women with appropriate physical health services, as a basis for ongoing mental health services conducted by Sarah’s Circle staff, and in some cases as a basis for pursuing disability benefits. A clinical case manager will then provide mental health counseling and motivational interviewing, provide practical support to the client during the transition period, and aid the client in transitioning to local service providers, a health home, and community support networks. A clinical case manager is an experienced mental health professional who works intensively with a client providing both case management and clinical services. When needed, the APN will continue to provide medical services, including medication management with clients.
The program is designed primarily as a Critical Time Intervention to provide support and aid clients in the transition from homelessness to housing with access to community health services, however there are limitations to this model because of the extreme shortage of health services available in the community for this population. If there are not community resources, a transition cannot occur. Our program is intentionally flexible to deal with this issue. The Clinical Case Manager will have a greater focus on mental health issues for clients struggling with mental illness, and services may be extended past the traditional 9 month cutoff for clients who are unable to obtain community mental health services. The APN will also be providing critical health services and oversight for the Clinical Case Manager.

Identify the needs or problems that this program will address, including the population served, and describe how the program addresses these needs.

[3000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):

The women who come to Sarah’s Circle have extremely limited access to medical/mental health services. Indeed, of the women we serve only 32% have Medicaid, and even with Medicaid, the severity of the women’s conditions often limits their ability to access health care. This situation becomes even more drastic when a woman becomes housed outside of a comprehensive program, as she loses access to even the most basic health outreach programs designated for homeless individuals and spends more of her income on housing. Additionally, local mental health providers have become unable to provide services to low-income patients without Medicaid. This situation, coupled with the fact that 60% of the women coming to Sarah’s Circle cite mental illness as a major barrier to housing stability creates a systemic lack of fundamental health care enabling women to retain housing and improve their health.

Participants in the program will be low-income, adult, formerly homeless women. More than 80% of the women Sarah’s Circle serves are racial or ethnic minorities, with 64% of African American descent. Approximately 60% struggle with mental illness, and 11% suffer from a physical or developmental disability. Sarah’s Circle places approximately 60 women per year in housing through other housing providers and provides 11 units of permanent supportive housing for women with disabilities who have been chronically homeless.

Primary and psychiatric healthcare will be provided by an experienced and dual certified APN. Mental health counseling, case management, and practical assistance with establishing a support network and community based service providers will be provided by the Clinical Case Manager. The APN will provide most services at Sarah’s Circle where supplies and appropriate space will be available, while the Clinical Case Manager will provide most services during home visits. Both will have flexibility to meet a client at alternative locations as needed. This flexibility and the home visits by the Clinical Case Manager will help the program staff to provide highly accessible services for these extremely vulnerable women. The program will not only provide non existent or scarce services to a difficult to reach population, but the clinical case manager will be providing services according to a critical time intervention model, which has been proven to improve housing retention among formerly homeless populations.
Q49: Number Served*
How many people would be served by this grant and/or program?
[1000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
We anticipate serving approximately 70 women with this program during its first year, with about 60 who we will house through other programs, and the 11 in our permanent supportive housing. Ideally the women will be served intensively for a limited amount of time with the expectation that these services during the critical transition time will improve their long-term health and housing stability. If women are in need of continued services, and are unable to gain access to community health services, Sarah’s Circle services may be continued.

Q50: 3. Methodology*
Describe the program methodology or intervention strategy.
[2000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
The Critical Time Intervention model was first designed in New York City in the 1990s to address the high rate of recidivism among men struggling with mental illness who were placed in housing after receiving mental health treatment in homeless shelters. Service providers hypothesized that part of the problem was discontinuity of support as the men went through the transition period and were expected to navigate alone a new and complex system of care. In the Critical Time Intervention model, the first three months after housing placement involve the most intensive emotional and practical support in helping the client establish and negotiate a community support network. The case manager continues to meet with the client and address issues until transfer of care is complete approximately nine months after housing placement. The model has been proven in randomized trials to be significantly more effective than usual treatment at reducing homelessness, up to 18 months after housing placement (www.criticaltime.org).

Critical Time Intervention is predicated on the availability of supportive services in the community, including mental health services. Due to the severe shortage of mental health services, there will be a greater focus with our program on providing mental health counseling and ensuring proper medication management and medical oversight, including the possibility of extension of services based upon need.

Best Practices: Sarah’s Circle is Trauma-Informed and practices Harm Reduction in all of our programs. The Clinical Case Manager and Advanced Practice Nurse will have relatively small case loads and will take part in monthly team meetings with the Housing Coordinator. This will ensure coordinated care and smooth transitions from the Housing Coordinator as the primary contact to the Clinical Case Manager as the primary contact. The Clinical Case Manager will use Motivational Interviewing and other evidence-based Substance Abuse and Mental Health techniques.

Q51: 4. Outcome Measures*
What are the specific outcome measures and related baselines (please see our website for examples).
Describe any specific staffing needs to accomplish the activities for which funding is requested. Identify key staff and their qualifications.

Answer(s):

Sarah’s Circle’s programs are monitored and assessed from multiple perspectives. Clients are routinely surveyed to determine overall satisfaction and programming needs, both through formal surveys and regular informal check-in. Case management and clinical files are systemically reviewed by the Program Director for follow-up and trends. Program information is recorded and aggregated in an internal database and evaluated based upon progress on goals and objectives throughout the year. All governmental programs as well as the entire agency are subject to periodic audits.

Follow-up calls, letters, and visits will be conducted at 12 months after placement to accurately assess the housing retention rate and gather qualitative data on program satisfaction and areas for improvement. Below are our objectives for the project.

- 70 women receive initial health screening.
- 70 women connected with FQHC (Federally Qualified Health Clinic) health home.
- 70 women will be assessed for benefits including Medicaid. For eligible, women, process will be started.
- 60% linked with Clinical Case Manager for more intensive services as needed.
- 80% remain in housing for 12 months.

Currently the women we place in housing are not receiving these services. Our case managers routinely perform mainstream benefits assessments, but these do not include the medical assessment needed for Medicaid and SSI. Our baseline for housing retention is based upon desired outcomes for housing programs for the formerly homeless. We do not have an accurate 12 month housing retention rate baseline for this particular population.

Q52: 5. Staffing

Describe any specific staffing needs to accomplish the activities for which funding is requested. Identify key staff and their qualifications.

[1900 characters allowed]

Answer(s):

Key staff members will be the APN who will be providing the medical care for the project and the Clinical Case Manager who will be providing the mental health counseling and case management for project participants. While we have used interns in the past to provide quality services while keeping costs low for our Clinical Services Program, that was done in house, in a controlled setting. This model of leveraging graduate students with intensive supervision in a controlled setting is not transferable to a home visit model.

Regina Sasha will be the Advanced Practice Nurse for this project. She is dual certified and has over 20 years of experience working in clinical and academic settings. The Clinical Case Manager for the project has not yet been hired. The staff member hired will be a LCSW and CADC with at least five years of experience working with this population.
Additional important staff members will be Anne-Marie Keswick our Program Director and Megan Libreros, our Housing Coordinator. Ms. Keswick, LCSW, has a background of providing mental health service for this population at C4, and prior to joining Sarah’s Circle was a Supportive Services Director for an agency providing a range of supportive services and permanent housing for the homeless. Ms. Libreros works to house clients by matching clients with available and appropriate housing options, whether that is through a partnering housing program or in low-cost market rate housing.

Q53: 6. Sustainability*
Please tell us how you plan to sustain the program for which you seek funding after the termination of this grant.
[2000 characters allowed]

Answer(s):
Sarah’s Circle has designed this program strategically to be a two year pilot program. The program will provide immediate needed support for a group of women with extremely limited access to health services and position Sarah’s Circle well for changes in the funding environment when healthcare reform is enacted. Although the political environment has been volatile, as healthcare reform is now designed, most of the clients we house will become eligible for Medicaid in 2014, and Medicaid will become more flexible in covering holistic healthcare costs, such as clinical case management. At that time, Sarah’s Circle will assess multiple models, including partnering with a health home to be reimbursed for providing services, which will give us access to a major sustainable source of funding for these much needed services.

All personnel on this project will be contractual, so the scope of the project can be scaled up or down based upon funding levels. Clients with the most needs who are placed in housing without supportive services will be prioritized if the project must be scaled down.

The dual certified APN will be providing physical health and psychiatric services for the clients, and the Clinical Case Manager will be providing mental health counseling.

Some medical oversight by an MD is required for the APN to practice. While we have prospects for an MD to provide these services pro bono, this has been built into the budget both to ensure the services can be paid for if they are not secured pro bono and to reflect the value of the services.

We have also added an additional 15% to the budget for administration to help cover the overhead costs associated with running the program.

What do these women have in common?
Sarah’s Circle is a refuge for women who are homeless or in need of a safe space. By providing housing assistance, case management, referral services, and life necessities, we encourage women to empower themselves by rebuilding both emotionally and physically; realizing their unique potential.
Dear Friends of Sarah’s Circle,

As our cover illustrates, homelessness is a reality experienced by women from all walks of life. Sarah’s Circle served 917 women in 2010, and each of those women has a unique story of how she came to need Sarah’s Circle. While our clients come from many different backgrounds, much in their experience is shared. Women who are homeless lack not just reliable shelter, but also the safety, stability, and community that come with a permanent home.

For our annual report this year, we have chosen to share with you the stories of four women who have been touched by Sarah’s Circle. These stories demonstrate the diversity of women who struggle with housing instability, and the importance of a multifaceted approach to ending homelessness. These women challenge and complicate stereotypical notions of homelessness and remind us what we are working towards.

These stories also represent a small portion of the staggering 26% increase in clients that we have welcomed into Sarah’s Circle over the past year. Staff, volunteers, and donors have met this challenging increase with dedication and enthusiasm. We are proud of the progress Sarah’s Circle has made on long-term goals, even while finding creative ways of accommodating so many new clients. In the past year, we have housed more women, expanded our Clinical Services, and finalized plans to purchase and renovate a new home for Sarah’s Circle. This progress was and is possible only with the involvement of friends of Sarah’s Circle.

Thank you for all of your support of Sarah’s Circle as we continue to successfully serve women who are homeless.

Sincerely,

Judy Krueger
President, Board of Directors

Katherine Ragnar
Executive Director
917 women met their basic needs at Sarah’s Circle in 2010.

By the early 2000s, Susan had risen in the ranks of her company and truly enjoyed her job, training and supervising new employees. When her company relocated to Indiana, Susan went with it. After a few years though, when her company decided to outsource, Susan was laid off. She was alone in Indiana with few employment options and without the resources to move again. Susan eventually found a job, but it paid less and provided minimal benefits. After struggling for several years, Susan lost everything when she lost her job in 2009. There was no help for Susan in Indiana; she could not even find an open emergency shelter bed, so she used her last few dollars to pay for a bus ticket back to Chicago.

When Susan finally found her way to Sarah’s Circle in 2010, she had started to lose hope. Sarah’s Circle gave Susan a welcoming, supportive community and the daily necessities of life so she could concentrate on working to regain self-sufficiency. The staff at Sarah’s Circle also connected Susan to healthcare and employment resources that fit her needs. Susan continues to use Sarah’s Circle as her home base as she works to become housed once more.
Whether a woman has become homeless for the first time or has been homeless for years, she needs to secure her basic needs before she is able to pursue more long-term goals. A meal, a hot shower, and being treated with respect can mean the difference between getting back on her feet and becoming mired in homelessness. Sarah’s Circle provided safe daytime shelter, food, showers, restrooms, and laundry facilities to a record number of women in 2010.
363 women participated in Case Management at Sarah’s Circle in 2010.

I’m working to stand on my own two feet, but I’ll always remember that Sarah’s Circle is behind me because it’s awfully hard out there on your own.

- A client

When Tiffany first came to Sarah’s Circle, she was spending her nights in an emergency shelter while holding down a part-time job, struggling with a physical disability, and working to finish her dissertation. Tiffany had experienced a difficult childhood but chose to pursue higher education in order to earn a better life for herself. However, without any family support, Tiffany lost her housing months before finishing her degree. Tiffany had long neglected her health while devoting her time and money to completing her education. This had exacerbated her condition and ultimately contributed to her loss of housing.

Tiffany’s case manager at Sarah’s Circle worked with her to determine her long-term goals for improving her health and self-sufficiency. They then identified the steps needed to pursue those goals. Tiffany’s case manager connected her with professionals who provided vision, dental, and most importantly medical care in order to manage her disability. Tiffany and her case manager were also able to negotiate reduced bus fare, so Tiffany could affordably commute to work and school. She is now able to maintain her income and work toward finishing her degree. Tiffany is a fighter and continues to work with her case manager to accomplish her goals.
Case Management is a collaborative effort between a case manager and a client. The case manager provides resources, referrals, and assistance, while the client must do the work to accomplish her goals. Our case managers also use motivational interviewing techniques to keep women positive and invested in the goals they are working to achieve, especially when they experience setbacks. Having unconditional support and a guide in navigating the available resources is often a crucial service for women in escaping and avoiding chronic homelessness.
206 women participated in Clinical Services counseling in 2010.

_What you have done for me is priceless._
- Rachel

Rachel remembers an idyllic childhood before her father left when she was ten. After he left, Rachel’s life became chaotic. She moved frequently with her mother and was sexually abused by a friend of the family. As she got older, Rachel began looking for love, stability, and protection from boyfriends. The men she dated often became controlling and then physically abusive. These relationships caused even more pain. To numb the pain, Rachel began using drugs.

Rachel struggled to regain sobriety and spent several years sober. She married a man with three children. However when that relationship also devolved into abuse, Rachel became homeless.

When Rachel came to Sarah’s Circle for the first time, she immediately felt safe and accepted, despite her mistakes. Rachel’s clinical counselor at Sarah’s Circle was able to offer her support and help her understand the psychological causes and consequences of traumatic experiences in her past. Rachel worked to accept her past, develop healthy coping skills, and envision a better future. She came to believe in her own strength and independence. Rachel started thinking of herself as a survivor. She is now housed but continues to work with her counselor at Sarah’s Circle.
For many women who are homeless, housing instability is rooted in a history of trauma or mental illness. In the past several years, Sarah’s Circle has developed clinical programming to address this problem. The services provided today include four supportive therapy groups: Trauma Services for Women, Domestic Violence, Mood Management, and Anxiety Management. These groups are a forum where women can relate to each other in a mutually supportive way while learning strategies for reducing psychological symptoms and destructive behaviors. Sarah’s Circle also provides art therapy and individual counseling. Providing Clinical Services is even more important now, as state budget cuts have resulted in many of our partner agencies eliminating these services, especially for the uninsured.

11 women were housed as tenants in Sarah’s Circle supportive housing units in 2010.

An additional 50 women were placed in permanent housing through partnering agencies.

As a stay-at-home mom for nearly two decades, Mary lovingly took care of her family and nurtured her two boys as they grew. She felt blessed that she didn’t need to work outside the home to support her family. However, her life abruptly changed when her husband tragically died in a work-related accident. Mary found that she lacked the job skills to find employment. Mary and her teenage sons bounced from shelter to shelter until a friend told her that Sarah’s Circle might be able to help.

The Housing Coordinator at Sarah’s Circle worked to find a long-term housing program that was right for Mary’s family. The Housing Coordinator advocated on their behalf, and eventually the family was placed in an appropriate housing program. They were able to stay together in one place while Mary worked through a job-training program and found employment.
The journey to a permanent home can vary as much as the journey from a permanent home. Our housing coordinator and case managers are familiar with the housing options available and connect women to housing that is appropriate for their situation and capabilities. For some women, transitional housing and a job training program is the path to independent, market-rate housing. For others, especially those with disabilities who have been homeless for years, subsidized housing with wrap-around supportive services are necessary to keep them housed permanently. This type of housing has been proven to improve outcomes and decrease public costs as residents switch to using outpatient preventative care as their primary method of managing a disability.

Our Future

As many of you know, Sarah’s Circle has outgrown our current facility, both in the number of women served and in the type of services provided. Over the years, our mission has evolved from passively serving as a refuge, to actively helping women to rebuild their lives. While we have transitioned from operating as a drop-in center only to operating as a dynamic and multifaceted agency offering individualized attention, our space has stayed the same. Staff members have creatively repurposed storage and office space to accommodate case management, therapy, and housing assistance. However this ingenuity can only go so far. The future of Sarah’s Circle is in a new space designed for our purposes.

We are in the final stages of raising the funds to purchase and renovate the new building, 4836 North Sheridan Road – just a block from our current location. The renovated building will transform the way Sarah’s Circle delivers its programs and enhance the lives of countless women experiencing homelessness.

The top two floors of the building will contain ten studio apartments for our Housing Program, which will allow tenants easy access to Sarah’s Circle daytime programming. By keeping the 11 units we currently have scattered on the North Side, we will have a total of 21 units for women who have been chronically homeless with a disability. This housing is crucial to ending homelessness for society’s most vulnerable women.

The main space of the new building will allow us to deliver our services more efficiently and more effectively. Our basic services will be upgraded and we will have proper facilities for our other programs. There will be more offices and multipurpose rooms that will improve our capacity to provide counseling, case management, and housing assistance and will allow us to improvise with the space as needed. Our new home will be beautiful, reflecting our belief in the dignity and potential of all the women who come to Sarah’s Circle for help.

The renovated building will be the embodiment of the transformation Sarah’s Circle has been making from alleviating the pain of homelessness to ending homelessness.

Thank you to all who have contributed to this project so far, and for those who have not yet, it’s not too late!
